

Konstantinos Tsitselikis

He has studied International Law and Human Rights at the law faculties in the Universities of Thrace, Thessaloniki and Strasbourg. He has taught at the Universities of Western Macedonia, Thrace, and Bilgi of Istanbul. He has worked for the Council of Europe, the OSCE, the UN, the EU and FIDH in Human Rights and Democratisation field missions. Member of scientific groups and expert on minorities, human rights and democratisation. He is co-director of the Series of Studies of the Research Centre of Minority Groups at Kritiki publishers and the author of a series of books, articles and studies on human rights, international law and minorities.